Information About Brokerage Services

11-03-2025

Texas law requires all real estate license holders to give the following information about brokerage services to prospective buyers, tenants, sellers and landlords.

TYPES OF REAL ESTATE LICENSE HOLDERS:

- A BROKER is responsible for all brokerage activities, including acts performed by sales agents sponsored by the broker.

- A SALES AGENT must be sponsored by a broker and works with clients on behalf of the broker.

A BROKER'S MINIMUM DUTIES REQUIRED BY LAW (A client is the person or party that the broker represents):

- Put the interests of the client above all others, including the broker's own interests;
- Inform the client of any material information about the property or transaction received by the broker;
- Answer the client's questions and present any offer to or counter-offer from the client; and
- Treat all parties to a real estate transaction honestly and fairly.

WRITTEN AGREEMENTS ARE REQUIRED IN CERTAIN SITUATIONS: A license holder who performs brokerage activity for a prospective buyer of residential property must enter into a written agreement with the buyer before showing any residential property to the buyer or if no residential property will be shown, before presenting an offer on behalf of the buyer. This written agreement must contain specific information required by Texas law. For more information on these requirements, see section 1101.563 of the Texas Occupations Code. Even if a written agreement is not required, to avoid disputes, all agreements between you and a broker should be in writing and clearly establish: (i) the broker's duties and responsibilities to you and your obligations under the agreement; and (ii) the amount or rate of compensation the broker will receive and how this amount is determined.

A LICENSE HOLDER CAN REPRESENT A PARTY IN A REAL ESTATE TRANSACTION:

AS AGENT FOR OWNER (SELLER/LANDLORD): The broker becomes the property owner's agent through an agreement with the owner, usually in a written listing to sell or property management agreement. An owner's agent must perform the broker's minimum duties above and must inform the owner of any material information about the property or transaction known by the agent, including information disclosed to the agent or subagent by the buyer or buyer's agent. An owner's agent fees are not set by law and are fully negotiable.

AS AGENT FOR BUYER/TENANT: The broker becomes the buyer/tenant's agent by agreeing to represent the buyer, usually through a written representation agreement. A buyer's agent must perform the broker's minimum duties above and must inform the buyer of any material information about the property or transaction known by the agent, including information disclosed to the agent by the seller or seller's agent. A buyer/tenant's agent fees are not set by law and are fully negotiable.

AS AGENT FOR BOTH - INTERMEDIARY: To act as an intermediary between the parties the broker must first obtain the written agreement of each party to the transaction. The written agreement must state who will pay the broker and, in conspicuous bold or underlined print, set forth the broker's obligations as an intermediary. A broker who acts as an intermediary:

- Must treat all parties to the transaction impartially and fairly;
- May, with the parties' written consent, appoint a different license holder associated with the broker to each party (owner and buyer) to communicate with, provide opinions and advice to, and carry out the instructions of each party to the transaction.
- Must not, unless specifically authorized in writing to do so by the party, disclose:
 - that the owner will accept a price less than the written asking price;
 - that the buyer/tenant will pay a price greater than the price submitted in a written offer; and
 - any confidential information or any other information that a party specifically instructs the broker in writing not to disclose, unless required to do so by law.

A LICENSE HOLDER CAN SHOW PROPERTY TO A BUYER/TENANT WITHOUT REPRESENTING THE BUYER/TENANT IF:

- The broker has not agreed with the buyer/tenant, either orally or in writing, to represent the buyer/tenant;
- The broker is not otherwise acting as the buyer/tenant's agent at the time of showing the property;
- The broker does not provide the buyer/tenant options or advise regarding the property or real estate transactions generally; and
- The broker does not perform any other act of real estate brokerage for the buyer/tenant.

Before showing a residential property to an unrepresented prospective buyer, a license holder must enter into a written agreement contains the information required by section 1101.563 of the Texas Occupations Code. The agreement may not be exclusive and must be limited to no more than 14 days.

INVESTMENT OVERVIEW

The subject property is a 23,040 square foot multi-tenant shopping center located in Richmond Texas. The center fronts on FM 723 at the intersection with Bellaire Boulevard and just one mile south of Westpark Toll way. The Shops at Fulshear Gaston are 100% occupied with NNN leases with the majority of the rent roll having scheduled rent increases in the current term.

The subject property benefits from being in close proximity to many desirable master planned communities and school districts. This combination has resulted in the county being one of the fastest growing counties in the United States. More growth is on the way with Tri-Point Homes developing 950 acres (1,600 homes) for single family development just two miles south of the subject. Another 3,500 acres (7,000 homes) is being developed by Hines just two miles west of the subject.

Population and average household income within three miles are 79,700 and $183,900 respectively. Traffic counts on fm 723 are over 15,000 and over 10,000 on Bellaire Boulevard. These demographics support the demand for the tenant base at the center with 25% medical tenants and 43% restaurant tenants as well as a specialty grocery store.

CUSTOM TEXT

Results Physiotherapy was founded in Nashville in 1996 by Australian Gary Cunningham and a small number of partners, including 3-time gold medal-winning swimmer Tracy Caulkins. The first clinics were named after Caulkins, a true superstar in the Nashville area.

In the early 2000s, Caulkins exited the business, and Gary was joined by Greg Spurgin, a highly regarded physical therapist and businessman from Australia. Together, they began to increase their presence in middle Tennessee, training the Results team in the latest evidence-based techniques for relieving pain and helping the body to prepare and fully realize the benefits of exercise and strength training.

In 2021, Results Physiotherapy was acquired by Upstream Rehabilitation and is now part of the Upstream Rehab family of care. Upstream Rehabilitation is a leading operator of outpatient physical therapy clinics in the United States.

MARKET OVERVIEW

HOUSTON METRO AREA

Robust In-Migration Drives Market, Despite Still-High Delivery Levels Affecting Southern Suburbs

Demographic tailwinds support retail demand. Houston remains one of the nation’s top relocation destinations, as one of only two major markets to add more than 100,000 residents through net in-migration in each of the past three years. Paired with steady job growth, highlighted by Chevron’s headquarters relocation and major manufacturing investments from Apple and Nvidia, the metro’s retail outlook stays favorable. While the market saw net relinquishment in the second quarter — just the second occurrence since at least 2007 — demand is set to improve over the remainder of the year. As a result, Houston is projected to rank fourth among major U.S. markets for total net absorption in 2025.

Supply pressure weighs on select submarkets. Average inventory growth of 1.0 percent over the past four years, including major openings from Walmart and Target this year, continues to add options for retailers. Yet about 40 percent of the space underway remains available for lease, and completions have exceeded net absorption in 10 of the past 11 quarters. Most construction is concentrated in high-growth areas to the north and west of the metro, where pockets of local vacancy contraction indicate demand for the new space. In contrast, the Southeast submarket posted the largest net relinquishment metrowide in the second quarter. With lower population density and slower growth, roughly half of the 300,000 square feet slated for delivery in the second half of the year is still unleased.

Retail 2025 Outlook

JOBS
will be created

EMPLOYMENT:

Job growth in Houston is slowing this year, expected to reach only about half of the metro’s average annual pace over the past decade. Despite this, Houston remains among the top six U.S. markets for hiring this year.

2,800,000
SQ. FT.
will be completed

CONSTRUCTION:

Construction in Houston has slowed over the past three years, with inventory growing just 0.8 percent in 2025. Yet supply pressure persists. The metro maintains the second-largest pipeline nationwide.

50
increase in vacancy

VACANCY:

Vacancy is expected to reach 6.0 percent by year end — 50 basis points above the decade average. Net absorption is slowing notably, running at just one-sixth of the long-term annual average this year.

0.5%
DECREASE

RENT:

Slower demand over the course of 2025 will result in a second consecutive year of rent declines. By December, the average rent will fall to $19.73 per square foot, returning to levels last seen in 2022.

SHOPS AT FULSHEAR GASTON

MARKET OVERVIEW

2Q 2025 — 12-Month Period

CONSTRUCTION

2,666,000 sq. ft. completed

- Since the midpoint of 2024, quarterly space additions in the metro have trended under 1 million square feet — a pace Houston saw in only two of the 24 quarters between 2014 and 2019.
- Deliveries in the last 12 months were concentrated in the metro's northern side, especially along State Highway 99 and in the Conroe area.

VACANCY

50 basis point increase in vacancy Y-O-Y

- Weaker net absorption in the third quarter of 2024 and first half of 2025 pushed the metrowide vacancy rate up to 5.8 percent.
- Vacancy for multi-tenant properties declined in the metro's three largest submarkets by stock — Northeast, West and Southwest Houston, highlighting steady tenant demand in Houston's largest inventory clusters.

2.0% decrease in the average asking rent Y-O-Y

- The metro's average asking rent declined in four of the past five quarters, now at $19.64 per square foot — the second lowest among all primary U.S. retail markets and above only Chicago.
- Year-over-year rent growth was limited to just two of the metro's 12 submarkets: along the Interstate 10 East corridor and the Route 290 corridor.

MARKET OVERVIEW

Investment Highlights

- Retail property sales in Houston rose about 25 percent year over year in the 12 months ended in June. Multi-tenant transactions jumped 35 percent, while single-tenant sales grew 15 percent. The average price per square foot also increased, reversing a two-year decline from 2023 to 2024, and the average cap rate remained steady at 6.8 percent.
- Private buyers and sellers accounted for over 80 percent of all sales during this period — a shift from the previous year when owner-users and institutions combined made up 40 percent of transactions. This likely reflects institutional caution amid economic uncertainty and private investors pursuing opportunistic deals, especially in vintage properties.
- Nearly two-thirds of transactions over the past two years occurred in the four most active submarkets — North, Northwest, Southeast and Southwest. The West submarket south of Interstate 10 West holds the lowest vacancy rate at 4.0 percent among metro areas with more than 20 million square feet, but stable long-term tenants and limited turnover have kept sales activity muted. The area could draw more investor attention as its population grows and new strip centers come online in the Katy corridor.
