LOCATION OVERVIEW

Northpointe retail center benefits from prime positioning along tomball pkwy (hwy 249), one of northwest houston's primary arteries into the city, seeing 166,000+ vpd. Additionally, the asset is positioned 1 mile inside the grand parkway (hwy 99), houston's 3rd loop, serving as an all-encompassing citywide connector. The asset serves the affluent and rapidly growing tomball suburb of northwest houston. Residents enjoy easy access to the energy corridor (25 miles) and downtown (28 miles), as well as the a-rated tomball isd. Household incomes exceed the national average by 30% and the population has grown 40% in the last 15 years. Lying within an extremely tight retail market (3.3% Vacancy rate), and given the lack of new class a competing product in the area, the asset is positioned well for healthy tenant retention and future rental growth.

MARKET OVERVIEW

HOUSTON OVERVIEW

Houston is firmly established as a premier global city and is a leading destination for investment by all capital sources due to its unique combination of stability and dynamic growth. Houston combines its position as the “Energy Capital of the World” with a significant depth in the healthcare, technology and distribution industries to create an economic composition that serves as a buffer to national economic trends and provides stability and continued growth. The Houston MSA is home to an estimated 7.1 million people, making it the fourth most populous city in the United States. The Houston MSA is expected to grow by another 3.6 million people over the next 25 years, reaching a population of more than 10.7 million by 2050.

ECONOMY

Houston is internationally known as home to NASA Johnson Space Center and Texas Medical Center, the world’s largest medical complex. Also, the Port of Houston is ranked first in the U.S. for foreign tonnage and is the largest Gulf Coast container port. The Houston MSA’s nominal gross area product in 2023 was $490.07 billion, according to U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis. If Houston were a country, its economy would rank 24th in the world, and is larger than that of Poland and Nigeria, according to the International Monetary Fund.

Major players such as Chevron, Hewlett Packard Enterprise, and ExxonMobil have relocated their headquarters to Houston for the area’s entrepreneurial spirit, solid infrastructure, mid-continental location, low cost of living, and young, multi-national workforce. Houston is also home to NASA Johnson Space Center, which employs more than 18,000 engineers, scientists and administrative personnel, as well as the Texas Medical Center, which employs approximately 106,000 healthcare professionals. The Houston area is considered the academic center of the Southwest, with more than 375,500 students enrolled in local universities, colleges and institutions.

Houston offers businesses the least expensive office space among major metropolitan markets. Overall occupancy cost in the Houston regional market is a big value that employers from around the world can capitalize upon as a strong competitive advantage. Housing costs are 36% below average and the city’s cost of living is 7% below the national average, resulting in a low unemployment rate. Houston has solid schools, master-planned neighborhoods, and a host of recreational and cultural jewels. Houston’s businesses also benefit from the region’s four deep-water ports and major airport system.

GLOBAL HEALTHCARE HUB

Houston is home to the largest medical complex in the world, the Texas Medical Center, which provides clinical health care, research and education at its 61 institutions. TMC's presence is a major driving force in the broader region's thriving life sciences sector. Houston has more than 1,760 life sciences companies, cutting edge hospitals, health facilities and research institutions with a workforce of more than 360,000 people in health care, biotech and related fields in the area. Locally known as "The Med Center", this collection of healthcare facilities is located on over 1,300 acres, employs almost one in eight Houston workers, and receives more than 10 million patient visits annually. It is the 8th largest business district in the U.S., with an economic impact exceeding $20 billion, and $3 Billion in construction projects currently underway.

QUALITY OF LIFE

Houston has more than 500 cultural, visual, and performing arts organizations to entertain and educate Houston residents and visitors. Houston has a Theatre District second only to New York City with its concentration of seats in one geographic area, which covers a 17-block area in the heart of the City's downtown area. The area is home to ten performing arts organizations with more than 12,000 seats. The city's personality has evolved to reflect the multicultural and international influences of its residents and businesses. From the Houston International Festival to the world-renowned Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, Houstonians take pride in a sophisticated culture that is both cosmopolitan and authentically Texas.

CORPORATE / INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS

The Houston metro and the State of Texas are consistently recognized by Site Selection Magazine among the top destinations for corporate location, relocation and expansion. Corporate executives scouting new locations most frequently cite taxes, regulations, the legal environment, and a skilled workforce as their top criteria.

Widely regarded as a business-friendly destination for Corporate America, the Houston metro is home to 26 Fortune 500 company headquarters. Additionally, Houston is home to more than 90 consulate offices, more than 790 foreign owned firms, more than 400 companies with branches in 129 other nations and more than 3,300 area firms, foreign government offices and nonprofit organizations involved in international business.
